Instructional goals

Comprehensive lesson design

INSTRUCTION

Speaks clearly

Explains directions clearly

Well-defined expectations for students

Purposeful activities

Student engagement

Feedback to students

Flexible/responsive to students

Clearly defined assessment / remediation strategies

Knowledge of students

CLASSROOM ENVIRONMENT

Respect and rapport

Classroom procedures

Student behaviour

Use of physical space

EVIDENCE

Solid sequential plan with appropriate "read aloud." Good questioning strategies that check for comprehension. Your lesson design shows evidence of short and long term planning. Clearly defined outcomes.

EVIDENCE

Good expression with good discussion that helped your students understand. It is enjoyable to watch the interest and excitement on their faces. They were attentive and responsive to you. You set guidelines that provided structure and fewer interruptions - (ex. you should have had a drink before you came in). Appropriate use of praise. You incorporated student responses effectively. Good modelling for the students.

EVIDENCE

You have gained a calm, comfortable presence with your students. You have set good academic and behavioural expectations. You have learned to monitor and manage both large group and small groups. You noticed that "Annabelle" needed help and you responded well. Well done!

PROFESSIONAL RESPONSIBILITIESEVIDENCE

Record keeping

Contributes to school life(extra-curricular)

Professional and responsible

You have shown^a diligent and professional work ethic. You have gained curriculum knowledge that will continue to enhance your teaching.

JOURNAL

Please complete for our de-briefing meeting which we will have when you return to STU.

OTHER COMMENTS

You did well today! You have developed some useful classroom management skills - you lower your voice when needed; address students by name when correction is required; reminding students that you've given them one chance, etc.

I will see you on Wed. (April 27th) @ 9AM for your final evaluation. Please remind Zaty to discuss your final evaluation with you. She can email me if she has any questions @ cathyth@nb.sympatico.ca

Have a happy and relaxing Easter weekend.

Thanks.

Cathy
